

2012 Gatherings with Gayan Seattle, WA

Love's Fire

The heart of the Sufi is burning, and crying out “I will give anything to be with You!” What the world pursues—wealth, image, the illusion of control—is kindling for the lover’s flame.

In the path of love we learn to discern within our hearts what is real and of true value. Then we practice living our lives accordingly. This will be our focus and practice in our two gatherings this year.

This way of living is sacred and beautiful. And it is demanding, asking everything of us. To make our way happily, we gather with other lovers, both seen and unseen, for the great blessing of companionship.

There is a fire blazing inside me. If I cry about it, or if I don't, the fire is at work, day and night.

Rumi
